

Session 1: Energy Efficiency

Energy efficiency opportunities with long vector architectures

Oscar Palomar, BSC

Abstract

This talk will review the reasons why vector architectures are inherently energy efficient, and a few techniques researched by the speaker to improve efficiency of vector units. It will also present an overview of the Vector Unit designed for the EPI project and its opportunities for energy efficiency optimisations.